Except for the Kernel High Growth Fund and Kernel Balanced Fund (together, the “Kernel Diversified Funds”), each Fund primarily provides exposure to a single asset class. The Kernel High Growth Fund provides diversified exposure to growth assets, investing into a combination of other Kernel Funds. The Kernel Balanced Fund provides diversified exposure to both income and growth assets investing mainly in other Kernel Funds. The Kernel Cash Plus Fund, Kernel US Bond Fund, Kernel NZ Bond Fund, Kernel March 2027 NZ Bond Fund and Kernel March 2029 NZ Bond Fund (together, the “Kernel Fixed Interest Funds”) invest in fixed interest instruments and other cash and cash equivalents designed to generate an investment return that equals or exceeds the return of the relevant benchmark before fees and taxes. All other Funds are equity index funds (“Kernel Equity Funds”) designed to generate an investment return that reflects the return of the index being tracked by the relevant Fund before fees and taxes.

The supervisor of the Scheme is Trustees Executors Limited (Supervisor). The Supervisor is independent of Kernel.

¹ Prior to 6 July 2020, the Kernel NZ Small & Mid Cap Opportunities Fund was called the Kernel Level 9 Fund.

² Prior to 1 November 2024, the Kernel Global Property (NZD Hedged) Fund was called the Kernel Global Green Property Fund and the Kernel S&P 500 (NZD Hedged) Fund was called the Kernel S&P 500 Fund.

2. Investment philosophy

The investment philosophy of the Scheme is to provide investors with a range of high quality, diversified investment choices that, individually or in combination, can form part of an investor's portfolio, enabling them to tailor a portfolio that suits their unique goals and risk tolerance.

We believe that diversification is essential as it helps reduce risk, enhancing a fund's return potential over the long-term. We aim to reduce costs where possible as costs compound over time, reducing returns.

The Kernel Equity Funds track market indices, primarily providing diversified exposure to a single asset class. Index tracking funds buy and sell securities in proportion to their weightings within the index the fund tracks, rather than managing the fund actively by making an assessment on a particular security or market condition. This structure helps keep costs low which means investors keep a greater proportion of returns.

The Kernel Diversified Funds are designed according to a long-term asset allocation methodology and intend to stay close to the published target asset allocation rather than drifting for significant periods of time or making significant tactical bets on the forward macro-economic environment. Diversification across asset classes is intended to reduce the risk and volatility of performance, but as a result may reduce long-term returns.

The Kernel Fixed Interest Funds are intended to provide investment options for those seeking less volatility than a Kernel Equity Fund, and with the benefit of holding a diversified portfolio of bonds and other interest-bearing instruments.

Each Kernel Equity Fund investment strategy is based on a carefully constructed methodology by S&P Dow Jones Indices to systematically assess eligibility and weighting factors. For five of Kernel's funds this includes non-financial factors as independently observed or assessed, and/or reported by listed companies. Those five funds are the Kernel Global Property (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel Global Clean Energy Fund, Kernel NZ 50 ESG Tilted Fund, Kernel Global ESG Fund, and Kernel Global ESG (NZD Hedged) Fund. The non-financial factors include environmental, social and governance conditions, sometimes called responsible investment. For more information see the relevant Fund's Schedule later in this document, the methodology for the respective index and Kernel's ESG Policy which can be found on the Scheme's offer register entry at <https://disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz> and on our website www.kernelwealth.co.nz.

Each Fixed Interest Fund is actively managed to provide a return and risk profile comparable to the specified index from Bloomberg, except the Kernel US Bond Fund which aims to track the underlying index.

3. Investment objectives

The objective of the Scheme is to provide investors with a range of high-quality Funds to meet their long-term investment objectives. Further details of each Fund's objectives, permitted investments and strategies are detailed in the Schedules.

4. Investment and other relevant policies

Rebalancing Funds

The Kernel Equity Funds undertake rebalancing of their assets at a frequency to match the rebalancing of the respective index tracked. Authorised assets for a Kernel Equity Fund include financial products where there is clear indication of the imminent addition of those financial products to the respective index.

The Kernel Diversified Funds rebalance to their target asset allocation with its cashflows or when the allocation is materially above or below its target weight for a period of up to a week.

The Kernel Fixed Interest Funds do not rebalance on a regular basis, but as required with reference to the characteristics of their respective benchmark.

The actual asset allocation of any Fund can be anywhere within its target asset allocation range.

Cash Equivalents definition

Different providers, accounting standards and industry standards distinguish Fixed Interest from Cash Equivalents in a variety of ways. For categorisation in Kernel funds, especially relevant for the Cash Plus Fund, the following assets are considered Cash and Cash equivalents:

- Bank deposits;
- Term deposits with less than a year until maturity;
- Unsettled asset sales or acquisitions, where proceeds are expected normally within days, but up to one month;
- Dividends receivable;
- Coupons receivable;
- Bonds with less than a year until maturity date;
- Commercial Paper with less than a year until maturity date;
- Floating Rate Notes where the interest rate is reset at least annually (normally quarterly) and there is an available secondary market;
- Interest rate swaps.

By comparison, Fixed Interest as an asset class refers to financial instruments which have a common characteristic of paying an agreed (fixed) return on the initial investment. These instruments are debt securities with the borrower obliged to pay regular interest (often referred to as the "coupon") and then to repay the principal at the end of the investment period (Maturity Date). The interest rate may fluctuate periodically as part of the instrument design but is still considered fixed, rather than truly floating. The Fixed Interest asset class is sometimes called the "long-term money market", with investment periods in excess of 12 months. These are then categorised as New Zealand Fixed Interest or International Fixed Interest based on their currency (NZD or not) rather than their issuer or custodian.

Target Maturity Funds

The Kernel March 2027 NZ Bond Fund and the Kernel March 2029 NZ Bond Fund are collectively "Target Maturity Funds". A Target Maturity Fund has an intended wind up date known as the Fund Maturity Date (see Schedules 24 and 25, respectively) and to provide similar characteristics such as yield, interest rate duration risk and repayment of principal and interest to an investment grade bond with the stated Maturity Date. The Kernel March 2027 NZ Bond Fund has a Fund Maturity Date on or around 15 March 2027. The Kernel March 2029 NZ Bond Fund has a Fund Maturity Date on or around 15 March 2029. As the relevant fund approaches the Fund Maturity Date any bonds held that have not matured will be liquidated and increasingly funds will be held in cash, cash equivalents or within a cash fund. We intend to resolve to wind up the relevant funds (in accordance with the master trust deed for the Scheme (Master Trust Deed)) on or around one month before their respective Fund Maturity Date. During the period between the passing of such resolution and the wind up of the relevant fund we intend to suspend any further applications, switches, withdrawals or distributions.

The target maturity funds will have quarterly distributions of a set annual amount promoted on the Kernel website. This rate is subject to change, but is more likely to be a distribution of capital, should the income be insufficient. This may mean an investor gets back less than the amount invested, especially if interest rates falls, as the distributed amount will exceed the income generated by the fund. Regardless, as a PIE, the fund is taxed on the income generated, not the amount distributed.

Derivatives and leverage

Derivatives can be swaps, futures, options or other instruments in any currency, whether listed on an exchange or 'over-the-counter' which means entered into directly with another party.

The Kernel Equity Funds, except for the Kernel High Growth Fund, Kernel Global Property (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel Global Infrastructure (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel S&P Global 100 (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel S&P 500 (NZD Hedged) Fund, and Kernel Global ESG (NZD Hedged) Fund do not currently use derivatives but may do so in the future on a Fund by Fund basis.

The Kernel US Bond Fund, Kernel High Growth Fund, Kernel Balanced Fund, Kernel Global Property (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel Global Infrastructure (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel S&P Global 100 (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel S&P 500 (NZD Hedged) Fund, and Kernel Global ESG (NZD Hedged) Fund may use derivatives to hedge the market risk exposure to foreign currencies.

The Kernel Diversified Funds may use derivatives as part of the composition of their underlying Funds or to directly hedge foreign currency exposures.

The Kernel Fixed Interest Funds may use derivatives issued by major New Zealand financial institutions as counterparties to lock the terms of permitted money market instruments. Most commonly, this will be interest rate futures or swaps, which will be valued and considered cash equivalents.

In accordance with the Funds' establishment deeds, the Funds only intend to borrow for settlement purposes, but are permitted to borrow for other purposes as long as the total amount of principal moneys borrowed by the relevant Fund and outstanding is equal to or less than 25% of the Fund Value of that Fund (calculated in accordance with the Master Trust Deed) or as otherwise agreed with the Supervisor. "Settlement purposes" may include the value of hedging contracts prior to maturity and where the purchase or sale of authorised investments is delayed by Kernel so as to reduce the impact of costs to the Funds from frequent trading. For each Fund, the aggregate borrowing will be included in, and will not exceed, the cash asset category range as detailed in the Fund's respective Schedule.

The Kernel Fixed Interest Funds (other than the Kernel US Bond Fund) may borrow through the use of repurchase agreements for the purposes of managing cash flows and optimising the fixed interest portfolios. These Funds might also use an interest rate swap or a future that doesn't exactly match the dates of the intended security to be hedged – otherwise known as a proxy hedge – the purpose of this is to enable a more cost-effective hedge than might be achieved with an exact hedge.

Hedging

Hedging involves removing some or all of the foreign currency risk implicit in owning international financial products. This limits the impact of foreign exchange rate movements on investment performance. The Funds with exposure to international financial products, except for the Kernel US Bond Fund, Kernel High Growth Fund, Kernel Balanced Fund, Kernel Global Property (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel Global Infrastructure (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel S&P Global 100 (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel S&P 500 (NZD Hedged) Fund, and Kernel Global ESG (NZD Hedged) Fund, do not currently hedge but may do so in the future on a Fund by Fund basis.

The Kernel US Bond Fund, Kernel NZ Bond Fund, Kernel Global Property (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel Global Infrastructure (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel S&P Global 100 (NZD Hedged) Fund, Kernel S&P 500 (NZD Hedged) Fund, and Kernel Global ESG (NZD Hedged) Fund's foreign currency exposure are hedged to the New Zealand dollar, as set out in their respective Schedules.

The Kernel High Growth Fund and Kernel Balanced Fund may hedge foreign currency exposures directly or by investment into other Kernel Funds.

Securities lending

Securities lending involves lending of assets to another person, typically through an intermediary. The borrower provides collateral for the benefit of borrowing the asset until the original assets are returned to the fund, together with an amount equal to any dividends that may have become payable over the loan period, plus any fee for borrowing the asset.

The Funds do not currently undertake securities lending but may do so in the future on a Fund by Fund basis. However, the Funds may invest into underlying funds that undertake securities lending.

The Kernel Fixed Interest Funds (other than the Kernel US Bond Fund) may use repurchase agreements ("Repos") to the extent detailed in the Funds' respective Schedules. Repurchase agreements are where the owner of a security sells it to another party for cash consideration under an agreement obligating the owner to repurchase the security at some later point in time. At the termination of the agreement, the original owner repurchases the securities at a higher price than the securities were originally sold for. As a result, they are categorised in a similar way to securities lending.

Asset valuation and pricing methodology

Kernel have outsourced the pricing and valuation of the investments to the administration manager, Adminis NZ Limited.

While pricing and valuation are outsourced, Kernel is ultimately responsible for the pricing and valuation of the Funds. The value of the assets held by the Scheme and the net asset value of each Fund will be determined in accordance with the Master Trust Deed (and each establishment deed) and on a consistently applied basis.

The assets held by the Funds are valued each business day based on the fair market price on the day for which the valuation is being made, which is either determined by an exchange or by mid market methodology. If there is no bid or offer, or such prices are non-market size, then the closing valuation will be based off a best efforts assessment of available bids and offers in the market, taking into account alternative price sources from reputable providers such as Bloomberg, NZFMA, or alternatively as provided by a bank.

Since 21 August 2023, as published on the Kernel website, www.kernelwealth.co.nz, the valuation days, upon which the unit price for each Fund is calculated, are each business day. Kernel also values each Fund on the last day of each calendar month if not a business day, for reporting and fee purposes. Kernel may change the valuation days, or the frequency of valuation days, by giving written notice to the Supervisor. Kernel may use alternative valuation methods, in consultation with the Supervisor, such as when quoted prices are unavailable, provided the valuation method used is applied on a consistent basis over time.

Voting

Kernel will exercise voting powers where it is considered by Kernel to be in the best interests of our investors and when considered that not voting would have an adverse effect on investors. Voting decisions are made on a case-by-case basis. We may decide not to vote or to appoint an independent standing proxy voter.

Conflicts of interest

Kernel takes steps to identify and, wherever possible, prevent conflicts of interest. In order to identify, avoid, and mitigate conflicts, Kernel operates a Conflicts of Interest Policy. All directors and staff are required to adhere to the policy which provides guidance on what a conflict is, how to avoid a conflict, and how to manage it. Staff are required to notify Kernel of any conflicts which could materially impact investment decisions.

Kernel will disclose a conflict of interest, together with the following information, on the Scheme's offer register at <https://disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz>.

- the nature of the conflict of interest;
- the Funds that are or may be affected by the conflict of interest;
- the circumstances in which, and how, the conflict of interest would, or could reasonably be expected to, materially influence Kernel's investment decisions in respect of the Scheme; and
- the measures that have been, or will be, taken to manage the conflict of interest.

Related party transactions

Related party transactions are regulated under the Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013 (FMC Act). The manager, and any party the manager has contracted some or all of its managerial or administrative functions to, is prohibited from entering into a transaction that provides for a related party benefit unless it is completed within the exceptions under the FMC Act.

The Kernel Board will consider any related party transaction in accordance with the FMC Act. Transactions may be approved on the basis they are on commercial arm's length terms or where the manager has obtained the consent of the Supervisor.

The Supervisor will be notified of any transactions approved by the Board and provided with a copy of the relevant certificate.

Trade management

Kernel follows globally accepted best execution principles, which consider, but are not limited to, price, transaction and settlement cost, and speed. Most trades will target the price at the close of the market on the trade date using a variety of methods. Occasionally, client applications, redemptions or fund rebalancing may create a need for multiple Funds that own the same security to trade in the opposite direction to each other. Where appropriate, and to avoid unnecessary trading costs, Kernel allows Funds to transact between each other at no transaction cost. When an internal trade does occur, Kernel will ensure that the transaction is conducted at a fair market price. All trades must be originated and executed by approved staff.

Where Kernel buys or sells the same security for two or more Funds on the same day, Kernel will allocate trades in the best interests of investors, applying the following principles:

- All trades must be pre-allocated, where possible
- Actual allocation must follow the pre-trade allocation
- In the event that a trade is not fully allocated, actual allocation must be pro-rated based on the pre-trade allocation
- No Fund will receive preferential allocation treatment over another.

Kernel retains discretion to review trades where it is in the best interests of our investors to do so.

ESG Policy

Kernel's approach to sustainability and ESG factors is an important consideration for specific Funds in the Scheme. Our ESG Policy at <https://kernelwealth.co.nz/documents> sets out our approach to defining sustainable and ESG for the collective understanding of investors. It also outlines the principles and policies that underpin the non-financial criteria and features of our sustainable funds.

Our ESG Policy covers Kernel's alignment to the European Commission taxonomy published in 2021 for sustainable finance, the principles Kernel follows for monitoring Kernel's relevant sustainable funds, as well as internal processes it follows to meet the principles. Additionally, our ESG Policy sets out the applicable index methodologies, the relevant exclusions based on various assessments we have applied to measuring the ESG factors, and the minimum reporting publications Kernel will provide for non-financial metrics for the index upon which the fund is based.

5. Investment governance and management

Kernel operates a number of governance policies under a Governance Manual which outline the responsibilities for managing and overseeing the business.

Investment Committee

Kernel maintains an Investment Committee, appointed by the Kernel Board of Directors, which is responsible for monitoring and reviewing investment strategies and their compliance with the SIPO. Any breaches of the SIPO are reported to the Supervisor.

The Investment Committee may recommend changes to the SIPO which are submitted to the Board for approval, within the restrictions (if any) of the Master Trust Deed.

Quarterly reports for the Scheme are reviewed by the Board and provided to the Supervisor.

Supervisor

The independent Supervisor for the Scheme is Trustees Executors Limited, who supervises the Scheme to protect investor interests.

Custodian

The Supervisor can hold the assets of the Scheme or appoint an independent third-party custodian. The Supervisor has appointed Adminis NZ Limited as the custodian for the Scheme.

Administration manager

Kernel has outsourced asset valuation, unit pricing, and registry services to an independent administration manager. The administration manager is Adminis NZ Limited.

6. Investment performance monitoring and reporting

Monitoring and reporting

Kernel monitors performance of the Funds against their respective benchmarks to ensure there are no limit breaches and to monitor performance tracking against the respective benchmark.

Fund performance is monitored over multiple time periods and measured using various methodologies, including on an after-fees and after-tax basis, and an after-fees but before-tax basis. Performance information is available on the Kernel website and is published in the quarterly fund updates. Performance will be reported against the movement of the relevant index the Fund tracks.

Performance is reported to the Investment Committee monthly and Board at least quarterly as part of the ongoing monitoring of the investment performance of the Scheme.

7. Investment strategy and SIPO review

Investment Strategy

The investment strategy of each Fund is reviewed annually by the Investment Committee which monitors and reviews investment performance, strategy and compliance. The Investment Committee will consider whether changes are necessary to either the nature or types of investments that can be made and any limits on those and/or any limits on the proportions of each type of asset invested in. The Investment Committee also considers the reference portfolio of the Kernel High Growth Fund and Kernel Balanced Fund.

The investment strategy will be reviewed on an ad hoc basis if there is any material change to a Fund, a significant change in financial markets, a change to relevant law, or if instructed by the Board. All reviews will be reported, along with any proposed changes, to the Board.

SIPO Review

The SIPO is reviewed annually by the Investment Committee. The review considers any required changes to the investment strategy, policies, or changes of relevant law that might affect the SIPO.

The SIPO will also be reviewed on an ad hoc basis if there is a material change to any of the Funds, relevant law, investment strategy and/or policies, or as otherwise instructed by the Board.

All reviews will be reported, along with any proposed changes, to the Board. Any changes to the SIPO are only made by the Board after giving prior written notice to the Supervisor.
